What's Holding You Up?

Scheduling comes up often in conversations with surgeons...

Can I see surgical schedule openings on an app? Can I see my own surgical schedule on an app? How do I know if my peers are using their block time? And can I use their block time if they're not?

What are the scheduling pain points the broader community faces, and how we can help solve them through technology?

Ample tech solutions exist, including those within our own OS, but I'm curious how strong is the surgeon business case to change? Reply to this email with your experience.
